Rev's Ramblings

In 2016 during my time in the Royal Marines, I was in New York for the Wounded Warrior Games, a sports competition for injured and ill service personal. I had gone into a grocery store after a day competing on the track. Queuing up to buy some food, I reached the cashier and took out my wallet from my team tracksuit to get some dollars and cents. Fumbling somewhat with this unfamiliar currency in my hands, I looked up to pay and the cashier said "it's ok sir", and pointed behind me. As I turned around, a lady was stood there close behind whom I noticed was putting her credit card into her purse. She looked at me and said 'thank-you for your service' and I stood there rather taken aback. She had paid for my food and as it turned out, had been a spectator at the games earlier that day.

I had not done anything myself for this individual, in fact, I could have been a terrible Marine. But I suppose perhaps what she did was towards what I was representing, the British Armed Forces, and that I had served both my Queen and country. It is of course a rather American phrase - 'thank-you for your service' - but so moved by that particular incident, it is a saying I now pull out wherever possible to recognise others dedication. To the postmen and women roaming the streets in all weathers, to the care workers stepping from their cars to serve the needs of the vulnerable, to the street cleaners and bin personnel, to our NHS and emergency services – 'thank-you for your service'.

At the beginning of May we celebrate the coronation of King Charles, someone whose life role will truly be dedicated to a whole-life of public service and duty, to both our nation and the Commonwealth. The call to service is integral to our understanding of the monarchy, a role that above all else is one of dedicated service and one that must be fulfilled with distinction and integrity.

In his supporting role, as Prince of Wales, he held a bulging portfolio of charitable and conservational work and following the Queens death, King Charles pledged himself to this vocation and to follow his mother, whom we all might suggest, is a hard act to follow. Speaking after her death, he made an impassioned commitment to follow the pattern which she modelled with grace, loyalty and respect. And we pray for him through this time of his coronation and continually into the future, as he puts duty and self-sacrificial service before self-interest, as our most public of public servants.

As Easter people, we remember that God sent His Son Jesus Christ 'to serve, not to be served', who gave himself upon the cross for us and in joy-filled victory, rose again three days later, so we may know new life in him.

Jesus restored love and service to the very centre of our being and made it clear throughout His life, told through the gospels, that our calling to follow him is one of love and service to others. Be it towards family or friends, stranger or neighbour, church or community, nation or the wider world, our love and dedication to service must be primarily motivated by a duty to serve out of love and dignity for all, regardless of the receptivity or acknowledgment from others.

With the difficult events of the last few years, including Her Majesty the Queen's death, alleluias may have been more difficult to come by or even somewhat subdued. But as Easter people, we take confidence and comfort God is always with us, through the presence of the Holy Spirit. In His life Jesus showed us what it means for us to see him in those around us, who also need our love and service, that we too may move beyond self-interest to life-long service, as he was servant of all.

God Bless,

Rev. Justin

has been running since November last year. It's aims being simple: to stop perfectly good food going to landfill and help alleviate anxiety from food insecurity; it is open to absolutely anyone.

Our team of volunteer drivers collect food from various supermarkets each week. This is perfectly good food where the best before date has just passed or the use by date is that day. Without the intervention of Foodsave it would be thrown out by supermarkets and sent to landfill.

Every Tuesday another team of volunteers help sort and redistribute the food to local residents who come to the Mariner's Hall from 12.30 p.m. to collect what they need and can use; please note we only stay open until all of the food has gone. Each week the selection and quantity of food is different, we never know what or how much we are going to get. We therefore encourage everyone to bring along any food they might have, including pet food, which may be surplus to requirements so that it too can be shared with someone who could use it.

We have now moved from our base in the Scout Hut to a more convenient home in The Mariner's Hall. Thanks to the enthusiasm and support of the Hall Committee, GP surgery and Men's Shed and with financial backing of Foodsave, we are now able to store our equipment, dry goods and chilled food in more accessible locations. Thank you to all involved for getting this project moving; it really has been a Community effort and we are incredibly grateful for everyone's support.

We would also like to say a huge thank you to the whole Cosy Coffee Club Team for their amazing donation of £300.00; we know that you have all worked tirelessly to provide a warm, welcoming space at the sailing club for everyone over the winter and raising money for various local causes at the same time. We really are very grateful to have been included in the list!

Finally, if you would like to find out more and perhaps be involved as a volunteer or fund raiser please come and see us at one of our sessions or contact us on the Foodsave mobile number: 07471 282626. We would be particularly keen to hear from anyone who would like to join our team of drivers to collect food donations from supermarkets.

Our motto is simple: Take What You Need and Share What You Don't. We look forward to seeing you next Tuesday in the Mariner's Hall at 12:30!

Fine Foundation Centre

Beer Village Heritage

Reg. Charity No.1087162

May will be a very special month for Beer and the rest of the UK and Commonwealth. If you read the memories of those who celebrated the Coronation of Queen Elizabeth II it is obvious that it was a wonderful occasion which brought communities together while being a time of happiness and pride. Let's hope that the events planned in Beer for King Charles III's Coronation will stay in the memories of everyone as a wonderful day. It really is "history in the making". Let's be glad that this will happen in Springtime. William the Conqueror was crowned on Christmas Day 1066 – probably not the best time for street parties.

Beer Village Heritage is planning to contribute to the celebrations with a Beach Clean for the King on Monday 8th May. We'll meet at the Fine Foundation Centre at 1100 and everyone is welcome. If you can't be there on the day, don't forget that there are litter pickers outside the building for you to borrow at any time. As well as the rubbish bins by Charlie's Yard, there are recycling bins on the eastern side of the centre.

The Fine Foundation Centre opened as usual on Good Friday. Our plans for filling the tanks were foiled by the weather, although we have subsequently managed to get the job done. At the time of writing we have not been able to go rock-pooling so there are no fish in the tanks. Keep an eye on the posters in our new notice board outside the Mariners' Hall for information on planned rock-pooling sessions. All sessions – both planned and spontaneous - are advertised outside the Fine Foundation Centre.

What you will see in the tanks are some sculptures made from the hag stones which were collected for the project last year. All of the decorated luggage tags are in a folder at the centre, so you can revisit the thoughtful personal comments which the hag stones evoked.

The last of the current series of the Branscombe Project talks is on Monday 8th May when Nicola Westlake and Ian Crowe will look at re-wilding in Branscombe. Those of you unable to come to the April meeting missed an interesting story about the burnt house at Weston. 200 years on and there is still mystery about the building. The reconstruction, based on archaeology and architectural history, indicates that the ruins only show a portion of the house: Mr. Stuckey had built a very grand house to reflect his status and wealth.

I've cut what we laughingly refer to as "the lawn" in between heavy April showers. The area has some grass interspersed with a lot of daisies, dandelions, violets, bugle and other wild flowers along with some mossy patches. Our plan is to take part in the "No Mow May" project again this year. All of the flowers provide nectar and pollen for bees, moths and butterflies. We saw our first yellow brimstone butterfly earlier in the week. These very distinctive critters are said to be harbingers of a change in the weather. The pitosporum has only just come into flower, a couple of weeks later than usual. Although the flowers are insignificant, being small and purple-black in colour, they have the most amazing honey perfume which is very noticeable at dusk.

Beer Village Heritage is a registered charity and is run entirely by volunteers. As well as running the Fine Foundation Centre and the Bomb Shelter, we head up and support projects suggested by you as well as offering walks and talks on the local area. Do get in touch if you have any comments or ideas to take forward. Annual subscriptions of £3 per person are due now. You can pop your contribution into the diving tank money box at the centre (put the money into an envelope with your name and contact details). You'll find the Beer Village Heritage walks and I-Spy online via our website: <http://www.beervillageheritage.org.uk/>. You can telephone us on 01297 20858 or via beervillageheritage@yahoo.co.uk.

INSPIRING WOMEN

Beer WI has been as active as usual with regular groups holding either weekly, fortnightly or monthly meeting in members' homes. These include a book club, writing group, Canasta, with outside activities including a monthly lunch get-together as well as an organised monthly walk.

At the end of March Beer WI held our 98th birthday lunch at The Hind in Musbury. This was very well attended with over 20 members present to have a fun game of skittles before lunch, followed by a slice of a beautifully decorated birthday cake.

Unfortunately, our March walk, which was a guided tour of film locations in Lyme Regis, had to be postponed due to bad weather but is being held again at the end of April.

Our regular April WI meeting held in the Congregation Hall was well attended for an interesting talk by Tim Hyslop entitled 'Care Home and Toy Boys' in which he covered many aspects of money management in later life, essentially wills, trusts and importantly Lasting Power of Attorney. There were many questions put to the speaker arising from the varying and different circumstances of members present.

This year Beer WI have re-instated our monthly coffee mornings, where a member offers drinks and cakes in their home. Those attending are asked for a donation which will be put together at the end of the year and donated to a charity chosen by members.

Beer WI is linked with other local WIs (Colyford, Colyton, Seaton and Musbury/Whitford) and in April Musbury and Whitford held a Group Meeting that was very well attended including 10 members from Beer. There was a talk by a local artist who used different items of junk in her pictures, this was followed by tea and cakes.

At the end of April members from the local WIs are going by coach to Torquay for a Devon-wide Spring Council Meeting including a talk by Floella Benjamin.

We meet on the first Wednesday of the month at 7.30 in the Congregational Hall, Fore Street, Beer. Visitors and new members are always welcome. For information contact 01297 21864 or 599157

The Kingdom of Heaven is like....Communion in the Builders' Hut

In February I went on a CHRISM (Christians in Secular Employment) weekend in Sarum College, during the weekend, we broke out into small groups and discussed 'Communion in difference places.' In my group I shared the following story. I was asked to write it for their magazine. Thought I'd share it with my Church family too!

For 10 years I was a full time Town Centre Chaplain in Colchester and went into work places all over the town, including shops, offices and the police. One of my many privileges was to go every Thursday to a builders Yard, there was a tea break at 11 o'clock, so once I'd walked around the site and spoke to the Manager's and other staff. I would walk, with hard toed boots and a safety hat, over to the builder's hut, where the kettle would be on the boil. The guys working there would gather, turn round the 'naughty' calendars, tell each other the 'padre' was coming and to mind their language and the scene was set. In I'd walk, usually with a grin on my face and there would be an empty seat waiting. Then the teas would appear and a packet of Rich Tea biscuits, maybe if it was someone's birthday there would be doughnuts! Those biscuits and the tea were their 'bread and wine' because over that time in their hut, there was real communion, real sharing of love and tears, real confession and forgiveness, a discussion on current issues and church affairs, and an inclusivity that puts the Church to shame. In the end I would give them a Blessing and send them out to 'live and work' in this place that God has sent them.

Over the years I saw many of the builders change. Some came to faith, some thanked me for saving their relationships. Some just walked away every Thursday with a smile, knowing they were loved and respected. To me this was real communion, a real sense of being where Jesus would have been, sharing tea and biscuits in a builder's hut somewhere in Galilee.

Jimmy Green Needs Your Small Boxes!

At Jimmy Green Marine, we are aware of the impact our business has on the earth and its resources. We are committed to minimising this impact and preserving the environment around us as much as possible. Rather than simply produce another policy, our aim is to approach our work in a way that supports our vision and values, in balance with our professional needs.

As a retail business we handle a lot of incoming and outgoing deliveries. This requires a lot of packaging! We sort all the packaging we receive and reuse everything, from pallets and cardboard boxes to foam and bubble wrap. Nothing is thrown away if it can be reclaimed for sensible employment. Anything that we can't reclaim and reuse, is sorted for recycling through an external professional service.

If we don't have a suitable box to re-use, we have paper potato sacks for wrapping our outbound parcels. We have been doing this since the business began in 1981 because they are strong, light-weight and a biodegradable alternative to plastic.

However, we have an increasing demand for smaller boxes. If anyone in the local community has any small boxes in reasonable condition that they would like to see re-used, we'd be delighted to receive them.

We believe we have a responsibility to the local community, our customers, employees and business partners to continue our efforts to conserve resources, preserve natural habitats and prevent pollution.

For more information on our full policy, you can visit the environment and sustainability page of our website.

BEER PARISH COUNCIL

The council held the Parish Annual Meeting on Wednesday 12th April 2023 at the Mariners Hall, the meeting was attended by a representative from Jurassic Fibre, a Devon based Company, who gave a small talk on the current broadband infrastructure in Beer. At present the village has the old copper system, but this will need to be updated before the switch over to Fibre in the future. There is more information on their website regarding their costs etc.

PC Craig Amarilli also joined the meeting and spoke to residents about the work of the local policing team, the local policing teams details are on display in the notice board at the Mariners Hall, please do make contact with them should you have any concerns about crimes or any policing matter.

Do you know anyone who lives in the village/local to Beer and is looking to get on the property ladder? The CLT housing project has three shared ownership properties for local people, for more information follow the link below:

HOME | final \(beerclt.org\)

The Parish meeting was followed by the Full Council meeting where Cllr Dormor thanked the four Councillors who will not be standing for Election in May, Cllr G Pook, Cllr M Graham, Cllr A Adkin and Cllr E Molony. All have given a great deal of time and commitment to the Parish of Beer and their efforts have been greatly appreciated. Cllr Pook, who was also EDDC District Councillor, and Cllr Graham have been on the Parish Council for many, many years, all will be sadly missed.

After gathering feedback from residents, the Council voted to convert two of the parking bays at Townsend Coach Park into car parking bays, this will allow for an extra 7 bays, parking is very limited in Beer for residents so it is hoped that this will be a great help to many residents. Parking bays will be allocated to people on the waiting list, if you would like to be added to this list, please email the Clerk:

beerparishcouncil@outlook.com.

The Local Elections will take place on Thursday 4th May 2023, please remember that you now need ID to be able to vote in these elections, further information can be found at:

Presence

Everything happens now.

Are you conscious -- here and now? Or are you lost in thought? Are you revisiting your past? Or are you picturing some future event?

Either way, if you're lost in thought then you're not present. You're ignoring the only place where everything in your life happens: the present moment, Now. It's always there, and yet we by-pass it much of the time and send our attention off into past and future. Why? Because memories plague us; and we're anxious about events to come. Neither of them is reality.

The mind is a wonderfully clever instrument. You use it to reason and make decisions, to express yourself. The mind is all about processing thoughts, about Doing. The mind needs content. It generates opinion and judgement, reaction and response. When mind becomes present, that is brought to a standstill in the here and now, it becomes conscious, aware of space which is the absence of thought.

To cease thinking, even for a few moments! What a relief. What a respite from concern. A respite from being 'me'.

* * *

Somewhere along the human journey on this planet -- and particularly those of us who are creatures of the developed western world -- humans moved away from Nature. Nature from which we originate and to which we return.

Look at the indigenous peoples in the so-called undeveloped world: Bushmen (San), Aborigines, First Nation Indians, Inuit, Amazonian tribes -- they live in conscious connectedness with the Natural World. The individual ego (so applauded in our society) is absent from undeveloped cultures. Forests and grasslands, deserts and tundras are habitats that indigenous peoples fit into, and without needing to articulate it, they live with a sense of connectedness, of belonging to their environment.

Do we feel we belong in and with and to our environment? Being present in the here and now is an immediate way of connecting with it.

So, the one thing you are always in is Now.

Seems like we ought to be giving it some attention, don't you think? The one place where all of life, everything that happens in your life, happens. But we don't give it much attention, do we? We carry the burden of regret and disappointment. And we carry the anxiety and worry about what is to happen. So we're lost in thought. Lost in the time dimension. And just occasionally something happens to shake us out of past and future: shock, sudden beauty, a kindness. And just for a moment we sense that the only place where true change can occur and where past and future can be dissolved is Now.

And what is 'Presence'? It is letting go of past and future; it is locating your attention in the Now. This gives you space. This frees you from wasteful repetitive patterns of thinking. Presence enlightens your consciousness, it opens you to joy in the present moment.
